Teach English Abroad

i-to-i TEFL is the highest Ofqual regulated TEFL provider

i-to-i TEFL is the only TEFL provider of its kind to have up to 320 hours of TEFL training to be regulated by the English Government division Ofqual with the nearest competitors having a 168 hour course regulated by OFQUAL.

Ofqual (the Office of Qualifications and Examinations Regulation) is the governmental department in England responsible for maintaining and regulating educational standards, exams and certifications, such as GCSEs and A Levels.

By choosing a TEFL (Teaching English as a Foreign Language) provider who are Ofqual regulated, such as i-to-i TEFL, a teacher in training can guarantee their TEFL Course is of the highest standard and internationally recognised, making job-hunting around the world easier, plus having access to better quality positions.

Gordon Mathie, Managing Director of i-to-i TEFL, commented: “We pride ourselves on being industry leaders, providing our customers the best service in the market. Having this accreditation up to 320 hours ensures we can wholeheartedly stand out from the competition and prove to our customers they’re getting the best value for money.”
